

Umpire Pender Plays Leading Role in Five-Act Farce

Official Fines Ison $5, Lipe $10, Smith $5, and Banishes Last Two from Game.

MASCOT PLAYS ONE INNING

In Order to Finish Game, Local Manager Has to Send Boy to Outfield.

Highlanders, 6; Champions, 3. Umpire Pender was the one loud voice in the mix-up between the Champions and the Roanoke Highlanders yesterday afternoon on the Broad Street lot. After giving a classical exhibition of how a ball game should be run, he was suddenly banished of his afternoon's work by losing control of his temper when Jimmy Ison entered a mild protest against a decision on a catch in the end of the eighth inning. Mr. Pender immediately imposed a fine of $5 on Ison, and then, when Manager Lipe objected to the fine, he banished Lipe from the game. Later he imposed a $5 fine on Lipe, and subsequently he fined Arthur Smith $5 and sent him to the clubhouse.

As a climax to this five-act farce comedy Mr. Pender permitted the mascot of the Richmond team, C. Hill, a fat, round, sixteen-year-old boy, to play during the remainder of the game. After Lipe and Smith were out of the game there were only eight Richmond players on the field in uniform, and Lipe sent the mascot in the game. Hill is not a member of the local team, and none of the Champions thought the umpire would permit him to play.

Five-Fingers' Sign Again. When the trouble started, Sandherr was first base and Ison was at the bat. Mr. Pender called a ball below Ison's knees a strike and Ison said, "Too low." Mr. Pender was standing behind the Roanoke pitcher and he immediately took a couple of steps toward the home plate, shoved up his right hand with the four fingers and thumb extended and yelled, "You're fined $5." Manager Lipe, who was on the third-base coaching line said, "Cut out the five-fingers, and Mr. Pender, with his hand toward Lipe and yelled, "Get out of the game." Lipe said something else to the official and was fined $5.

After this play continued, Ison striking out, Sandherr at the side by forcing Sandherr at second.

The Richmond team scattered to the field for the ninth inning. Manager Lipe going out to third. Mr. Pender told Lipe that he could not play, and all of the Richmond players gathered around the official. Arthur Smith protested against the local manager being forced out of the game, and Mr. Pender first fined Smith $5 and then put him out of the game. Several other of the local players also protested, but Mr. Pender did not put them out of the game.

Jeered by Crowd. As Lipe and Smith left the diamond the crowd of 5,000 or more fans cheered the players for a minute, and then turned their attention to Mr. Pender. First the umpire was given a few cat calls, next he was showered with owl hoots and finally with loud and prolonged hisses.

Guy Timan is ill and was unable to play in the game and Cowan played right field. After the banishment of Lipe and Smith, Cowan was switched to center field. Pitcher Bussey went to third and the mascot went to the right field. Neither Bussey nor the mascot had a chance to play in the game.

Although he has played professional ball for seven years and has been managing teams for the past four years, this was the first time Manager Lipe has ever been put out of a game by an umpire. He never has missed playing because of illness, and this was the first time he has missed playing in seven years. Lipe's record has frequently been commented upon, and in 1907 one of the New York papers referred to him as the steadiest ball player on record.

Police Take Him Away. After the game, a large crowd gathered on the field, and many men and boys gathered around the umpire. Several policemen who were on the grounds escorted the official from the grounds. While Mr. Pender was leaving the park, Manager Lipe had a few words with him and the umpire left.

Appeal Fines Imposed by Pender :- Harvey Jussey Will Pitch To-Day :- Baseball Gossip

The fines imposed yesterday by Umpire Pender on Manager Perry Lipe, James Ison and Arthur Smith will be paid under protest, and the entire matter will be appealed to Judge Wells, president of the Virginia League. These will be the first fines appealed to the president of the league this season, but the officials of the Richmond Baseball Club have decided to take this step because they believe that some of the umpires are carrying the matters of fines and the benching of players entirely too far.

Umpires Pender and Black apparently are not making a success of the umpiring business in the Virginia League. Since the season opened both of them have come in for severe "roasts" in nearly every city in the circuit, and once at Roanoke Mr. Pender came near being mobbed after he had fined Manager Shaughnessy and banished him from the game.

Neither of these umpires seem to have that cool self-possession which is essential to the make-up of a successful umpire. Just as soon as a player or manager enters the slightest protest against any of their rulings they hand out a $5 fine, and if the player says anything more about the matter he is immediately banished from the game. The umpire has a rowdy, to fine him and, if necessary, put him out of the game, but in the opinion of many, Messrs. Pender and Black are carrying the matter too far.

formed the manager that he was fined another five spot.

The baseball game between the champions and the Highlanders was good in spots, but the trouble was that the spots were widely separated. A heavy shower early in the afternoon made the diamond heavy and soggy and this militated against fast fielding and base-running.

Pitcher Hale, who has been doing such fine work for the Highlanders during the past two weeks, was sent to the mound at the opening of the game, and the way the Champions started to work on him it looked as if he would not last the inning out. However, after he had yielded three successive hits to Lipe, Kanzler and Smith, Hale settled down and held the Champions safe.

The Colts blew the game in the second half as they exhibited an exhibition of ping-pong as one would wish to see. Painter cracked a single to left field and Presley laid down a bunt. Jack Ashton came rushing in for the ball and Messitt ran out in the diamond to field it.

Both players stopped, the one waiting for the other to pick the sphere up. When Ashton finally gathered it in and threw it to Kanzler, Presley was over the initial bag and Painter was at second. Tydemann advanced both runners with a sacrifice, Lipe to Kanzler, and Doyle to second, and then he made a perfect bunt of it. Both Ashton and Messitt again went after the ball, Messitt leaving the home plate unprotected, although Painter could have scored had he remained behind the plate.

Jack Ashton uncorked a wild pitch, allowing Presley to score and Doyle to reach second. Doyle then stole third base, and a second afterwards Ryan lifted a fly to Cowan. "Scrap Iron" threw to Messitt to catch Doyle at the plate, but "Pop" dropped the ball and Doyle counted. Hale dumped the slow grounder and Ison walked. When the ball finally reached him, Jimmy let it roll through his legs. Ashton hit Newton with a pitched ball, and Shaughnessy whacked a single to left, scoring Hale. Reynolds hit, Mr. Pender called Reynolds safe, and Newton counted, Shaughnessy going to third. Reynolds started to steal second and Messitt whipped quickly to Ashton. The bluff worked, Shaughnessy starting home and being caught block, returning to the side.

Roanoke added one more in the third on successive wild throws by Sandherr and Ison, and Ryan's single to center field.

The Colts shoved two over in the third. Hale, walking, Lipe, the first man up, Kanzler hit Painter, who threw to Doyle to head Lipe, but "Rabbit" dropped the ball, and both men were safe. Lipe and Kanzler advanced a base each on Smith's grounder to Doyle, who counted. When Newton booted Sandherr's grounder, Ison drew a pass, and Selber hit a sacrifice fly to right, scoring Kanzler. Cowan swung at a ball and sent it rolling down the first base line, foul by a foot.

The ball rolled into the diamond just before it reached first, and Umpire Pender yelled, "Fair ball, you're out." Sandherr and Newton did some fast fielding at short, while Lipe made a great one-hand stop of a hot grounder, and nailed his man at first. The only other redeeming play of the game was Doyle's one-hand catch of Selber's line drive in the second round.

Pitcher Reynolds, of Roanoke, who was playing right field, made three singles, one being a gift from Mr. Pender. The score:

In the judgment of those who saw the affair, there was not sufficient provocation offered yesterday for Mr. Pender to fine Ison, Lipe and Smith and to put Lipe and Smith out of the game. Mr. Black also has handed out fines here and elsewhere on very slight provocation.

Umpires Mace and Henneger preserve just as good, if not better, order among the players as do Messrs. Pender and Black, yet it is seldom that they fine a player. And both managers and players frequently enter protests against their decisions.

According to dispatches from Lynchburg last night, the work of Umpire Black in the Lynchburg-Danville game was severely criticized by both of the teams and the fans.

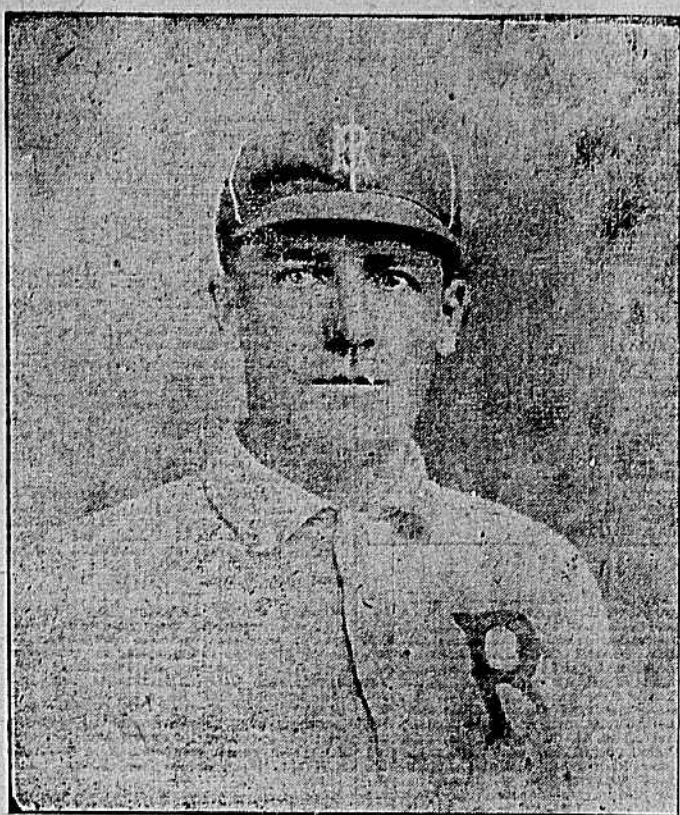

Harvey Bussey will pitch for the Champions in the game this afternoon, and Manager Shaughnessy probably will send Reynolds to the firing line. Reville will work for the locals tomorrow and Doane for the Highlanders.

Painter played a good game at third base for Roanoke yesterday. He fielded bunts fast and has a good whip.

BUGS UNABLE TO SOLVE GRIFFIN

Lynchburg Team Played Well Behind Pitcher, and Easily Defeated Danville.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LYNCHBURG, VA., June 10.—Griffin was a complete puzzle to Danville to-day and, with fine support, had no trouble winning. The score was 8 to 3. The Red Sox should have been shut, but two errors in the darkness in the ninth behind three singles gave them three runs. The rally was too late. Mayberry was hit hard in the three innings in which the locals scored. The features of the game were Taylor's hitting—three clean singles in four times up—and Griffin's triple over right with the bases full. Both teams were almost constantly at Umpire Black on his decisions on strikes and balls.

Orth Knocks a Knocker

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] LYNCHBURG, VA., June 10.—

Manager Orth created a sensation during the game yesterday at Danville, when he went into the grandstand and ordered a fan out, the fan having been addressing to the manager personal remarks which he considered objectionable. Orth walked with the man until a special officer took charge of him. The act seemed to meet with the approval of the better element of fans, for Orth has been rated unmercifully lately by a little crowd of knockers.
